When Amos came up to the ship with the mirror under his arm, he called, "Here's your mirror. Where are my eggs and sausages?" "Busy doing . . . ?" But she did not go into the cottage to clean. She stood waiting for the hunter to come. Her eyes and ears strained for the signs of his approach. There were none. "We do. Between them and our celebrity citizens, shopkeepers and simple businessmen like me are a minority group. Aventine is really a village with a large population." "I know. I'll call you back tomorrow." She switched the set off and sat back on her heels. "I swear, if the Earthside tests on a roll of toilet paper didn't ... he wouldn't. . ." She cut the air with her hands. "What am I saying? That's petty. I don't like him, but he's right" She stood up, puffing out her cheeks as she exhaled a pent-up breath. The grey man looked back over his shoulder, but all he saw were the bright colors of the garden. "Nobody," he said. These carefully cultivated neutralities. "What did Freddy say when you came in?" she asked in a conspiratorial if not downright friendly tone. (His snub had evidently registered.) He had a hole in his back, between his shoulder blades, an un-healed wound big enough to stick your finger in. "Well," said Amos, "like this. You say you are really the North Wind. "That's another way vampires are stupid. They never check the victim's blood group. The wrong blood group can kill you." February. That's where she's gone DOW? to Arizona, to wait for it. This is the third time she's taken. "Then I shall hunt the deer no more," he said, "if you will give me leave to hunt that which is now all at once dearer to me." He stopped at the clearing's edge, raised his head, and sniffed. The smell of man hung on the air, heavy and threatening. He came through it as if through a swift current and stepped to the cottage door. "Calm yourself, senor. With my own eyes I saw her go to the boat and she was alone, I swear it. She does not have the little one." "Why do you look at me like that, senor? Is it not natural for a woman to bulge when she carries a baby in her belly?" selfish desire to be one of the first ones through the Gateway? "Yeah. I broke my own rule. But so did you two. Consider your-." Ah," said Jack, "the second question is easy to answer, but the first is not so simple. I am a prisoner here because a skinny grey man stole a map from me and put me in the brig so I could not get it back from him. But why am I the Prince of the Far Rainbow? That is exactly the question asked me a year ago today by a wizard so great and so old and so terrible that you and I need never worry about him. I answered him, 'I am Prince because my father is King, and everyone knows I should be.' Then the wizard asked me, 'Why should you be Prince and not one of a dozen others? Are you fit to rule, can you judge fairly, can you resist temptation?' I had no idea what he meant, and again I answered, 'I am Prince because my father is King.' The wizard took a mirror and held it before me. 'What do you see?' he asked. 'I see myself, just as I should, the Prince of the Far Rainbow,' said I. Then the wizard grew furious and struck the mirror into three pieces and cried, 'Not until you look into this mirror whole again will you be Prince of the Far Rainbow, for a woman worthy of a prince is trapped behind the glass, and not till she is free can you rule in your own land.' There was an explosion, and when I woke up, I was without my crown, lying dressed as you see me now in a green meadow. In my pocket was a map that told me where all the pieces were hidden. Only it did not show me how to get back to the Far Rainbow. And still I do not know how to get home." Some people fear clones, on the other hand, because they imagine that morons will be cloned in order to make it possible to build up a great army of cannon fodder that despots will use for world conquest. "Still, it got you picked for this mission out of hundreds of applicants. The thinking was that you'd be the middle of their argument Barry came down with a murderous headache, took two aspirins, and went
