When they talked to each other it was always about what they were going to do in town, in Oraby, when they got paid off. He heard a good deal about the whores in Oraby, Daisy and Goldie and the one they called the Burning Bush. He had to sit with the young men because they all needed what warmth there was to be got from the fire, but they did not want him there and he did not want to be there with them. In them he knew was a vague fear of him as a sorcerer, and a jealousy of him, but above all contempt. He was old, other, not one of them. Fear and jealousy he knew and shrank from, and contempt he remembered. He was glad he was not one of them, that they did not want to talk to him. He had seen Anieb."And we're out of buttons," Tern said. He was cheerful; as soon as he had thought of Pody he knew."Set a price?" he flashed out. Then he remembered who he was not, and spoke humbly. On them are shining runes..".Shaken by the intensity of that will, Tern straightened up and drew a deep breath. He looked round.there; but those people were unnaturally tall -- and all at once I realized that what I had in front of."Everything's for gain some way, I'd say. People have to live. San, a hardbitten man in his thirties, was talking to a man on his doorstep, a stranger. When they saw Irioth they looked uneasy.
