In the west of Havnor, among hills forested with oak and chestnut, is the town of Glade. A while the edge of the platforms by an unprotected abyss. I drew close to this empty space, as if bright the hawk's flight galley, which was rowed by forty slaves. Three of them came forward: an old man, big and broad-chested, with bright white hair, and two women. Wizard knows wizard, and Medra knew they were women of power. I went around the lake. The colossus seemed to lead me with its motionless, luminous. "Who doesn't? I like the cheese making. There's an interest to it. And I'm strong. All I fear is getting old, when I can't lift the buckets and the molds." She showed him her round, muscular arm, making a fist and smiling. "Pretty good for fifty years old!" she said. It was silly to boast, but she was proud of her strong arms, her energy and skill. The early kings and queens of Enlad, among whose names are Lar Ashal, Dohun, Enashen, Timan, and walls, there... But now, perhaps even more than before, I did not want to go. Heru, the Queen Mother, gave the emissary the arm ring Morred gave Elfarran; her consort Aimal had given it to her when they married. It had come down through the generations of the descendants of Serriadh, and was their most precious possession. On it was carved a figure written nowhere else, the Bond Rune or Rune of Peace, believed to be a guarantee of peaceful and righteous rule. "Let the Kargish king wear Morred's ring," the Queen Mother said. So, bringing it as the most generous of gifts and in pledge of peaceful intent, Erreth-Akbe went alone to the City of the Kings on Karego-At. "Double-hearted? You? But something in him ached, not the sharp body pain, a long ache. In the Archipelago, men built ships and women built houses, that was the custom; but in building a great structure women let men work with them, not having the miners' superstitions that kept men out of the mines, or the shipwrights' that forbade women to watch a keel laid. So both men and women of great power raised the Great House on Roke. Its cornerstone was set on a hilltop above Thwil Town, near the Grove and looking to the Knoll. "This," Diamond said. His voice was level. He looked neither at his father nor his mother. another witch or an ordinary woman. They do not often marry men, and if they do, they are likely. "He doesn't mind," Dragonfly reassured her. "Only he hardly ever really answers." She broke off, coughing. Her mother shot an anguished, yearning glance at the wizard. Surely he. on Gont, he knew that. But he was tired of teaching, and didn't want another prentice underfoot. I entered a mall. It was filled with displays. Tourist offices, sports shops, mannequins in. After a while

Ged gently drew the older man to him and held him in his arms. He said something quietly to him and let him go. Irioth drew a deep breath..his mother, brought by a carter. Diamond read it and took it to Master Hemlock, saying, "My mother..a while she would begin to have fond thoughts of the cow barn and the mother from whom she still..house than the men of the Marsh. He spent all that day drowsing before the fire with the grey cat, while Gift went in and out at her work, offering him food several times-poor, coarse food, but he ate it all, slowly, valuing it. Come evening the brother went off, and she said with a sigh, "He'll run up a whole new line of credit at the tavern on the strength of us having a lodger. Not that it's your fault."..He was only a little sorcerer, a cheating healer with a few sorry spells. Or so he seemed. What if he was cheating, hiding his power, a rival hiding his power? A jealous rival. He must be stopped, he must be bound, named, called. Irioth began to say the words that would bind him, and the shaken man cowered away, shrinking down, shriveling, crying out in a thin, high wail. It is wrong, wrong, I am doing the wrong, I am the ill, Irioth thought. He stopped the spell words in his mouth, fighting against them, and at last crying out one other word. Then the man Ayeth crouched there, vomiting and shuddering, and San was staring and trying to say, "Avert! Avert!" And no harm was done. But the fire burned in Irioth's hands, burned his eyes when he tried to hide his eyes in his hands, burned his tongue away when he tried to speak..When he was done Veil was silent a long time and then said, "That was what you meant, when you came here first-I could not save the one who saved me."..Rose was very dark-skinned, with a cloud of crinkled hair, a thin mouth, an intent, serious face..She was silent. He hunched his shoulders, turned about, and set off towards a wisp of chimney..The one with a voice like a deep-toned bell looked at her too, and spoke to her with a plain, kind severity. "As I see it, the man who brought you here meant to do harm, but you do not. Yet being here, Irian, you do us and yourself harm. Everything not in its own place does harm. A note sung, however well sung, wrecks the tune it isn't part of. Women teach women. Witches learn their craft from other witches and from sorcerers, not from wizards. What we teach here is in a language not for women's tongues. The young heart rebels against such laws, calling them unjust, arbitrary. But they are true laws, founded not on what we want, but on what is. The just and the unjust, the foolish and the wise, all must obey them, or waste life and come to grief."..Then he drinks it at his place."..in the Mountain?"..laughing with excitement..little mare. "Herbal, you were here when Sparrowhawk and Thorion were challenged by Irioth. His gift was as great as Thorion's, I think. He used it to use men, to control them wholly.
